Live presentation on: Microsoft Teams >>

After a short presentation of the GDPR and the state of play of its application after three years, this seminar will focus on the legal framework of profiling with an analysis of the obligations of the stakeholders and the rights of the data subject. This seminar will provide some use cases, sectorial application as well as national approaches in some EU Member states on profiling, and automated decision making. The rules of profiling including data transfer to third countries will also be presented.
