SUMMER SCHOOL 2025

Appropriate Technologies & Digital solutions to Create Resilient Communities to face environmental and health challenges

Call for applications for the selection of no. 28 students enrolled at 10 African Universities (see Art.3 of the call) to attend the Summer School 2025 “Appropriate Technologies & Digital solutions to Create Resilient Communities to face environmental and health challenges” organised by the University of Brescia, in collaboration with Cheikh Anta Diop University of Dakar (UCAD). For the University of Brescia, in addition to the Department of Civil Engineering, Architecture, Land, Environment and Mathematics (DICATAM), the Department of Information Engineering (DII), the Department of Mechanical and Industrial Engineering (DIMI) and the Department of Clinical and Experimental Sciences (DSCS) are involved. The Summer School is organized also with the collaboration of CeTamb (Research Centre on Appropriate Technologies for Environmental Management in Resource-limited Countries) of the University of Brescia. Furthermore, for the University Cheikh Anta DIOP the faculty of Sciences and Techniques and the faculty of Letters, Human Sciences are involved.

Annex 1 contains the application form (in this document).

Annex 2 contains the Summer School Syllabus and the detailed programme (in a separate file).

Art.1 - Training activities

The Summer School will be held at the premises of the University Cheikh Anta Diop (UCAD) in Dakar, Senegal (Africa) from 30 June to 4 July 2025 (5 working days) and aims to provide in-depth training on Appropriate Digital Technologies and Solutions for Environment, Agriculture and Health Promotion in Communities. The Summer School will offer an interdisciplinary perspective on the issues of global health, water and waste, agroecology and renewable energy in developing contexts, with a particular focus on digital tools to foster community resilience. Teaching will take place through a combination of theoretical lectures and interactive group work sessions and case studies. All the lectures will be delivered in English by lecturers from the University of Brescia and African Universities.
