

McGraw-Hill eBooks Collections

The 60 McGraw-Hill titles subscribed to by our university, not included in the Access Engineering and Access Medicine collections, can be searched by clicking on the Publication Finder \(e-books and e-journals\) link or by going to the VitalSource Bookshelf platform (for the titles, please see the attached list).

This resource, for institutional users only, is available both on-campus and off-campus (via the standard authentication) (see the Off-campus access information webpage).

E-book access options:

- online reading, without digital loan: no registration required; click on Borrow to read.
- online consultation with digital loan: registration and login required; by clicking on Borrow, the user can check out the e-book for 5 days (early return possible by clicking on Return);
- download with digital loan: after borrowing the e-book (DRM protected) the user can download it using the VitalSource Bookshelf app for PCs and mobile devices.

When accessing via the Publication Finder \(e-books and e-journals\) link, the e-book opens directly, without clicking on Borrow.

The text is in ePub format. Printing is allowed within the system limits, and copy and paste functions are available. Each title is accessible by 5 simultaneous users. There is no limit on the number of e-books that a single user can simultaneously borrow.

Some titles include additional content via the Connect platform (e.g. exercise books, etc.). Students can email servizio.clienti@mheducation.com indicating the volume of interest to request information on Connect availability and how to access it.
