UpToDate Anywhere

To access UpToDate (Wolters Kluwer) with the Anywhere license, institutional users have to create a personal account. Registration must be completed either from a device connected to the university network or by using the link provided below and filling out the online form.

Once registered, and after logging in with their credentials, users can:

- Search the database;
- Access UpToDate from any internet-connected device (including off-campus mode);
- Use the mobile version by installing the dedicated app (limit of two devices);
- Earn free CME credits by doing searches;
- Customize their experience (add bookmarks, view search history, set alerts, etc.).

Important: the personal account becomes inactive if no login is made from within the university network for more than 90 days. To reactivate it, log in again from a device connected to the university network or through the link indicated below.

Accessing UpToDate without logging in (from within the university network only) allows database searches but does not grant access to the additional features.

Further details on the resource and on the registration process are available in the other attached documents.

PLEASE NOTE: To create a new account or reactivate an expired or soon-to-expire account, use this link (if accessing from off-campus, a log in with institutional credentials will be requested).
