Administrative procedure and Justice in an ever changing Europe: the role of AI in a comparative perspective

Prof. Jean-Bernard Auby
Sciences Po Law School

Chairpersons: Prof. Vera Parisio,
Prof. Nadia Maccabiani
University of Brescia

Thursday, October 16th, 2025, 1:30 PM
Room D2, Via San Faustino 64

This seminar explores the growing integration of artificial intelligence systems into administrative decision-making and judicial processes. It aims to critically examine both the opportunities that AI offers and the challenges it raises, including issues of transparency, accountability, bias, reason giving and due process. By adopting a comparative perspective, the seminar will highlight similarities and differences across jurisdictions, providing insights into best practices, emerging standards, and potential pitfalls.
