SEMINAR

“Corpus Linguistics Issues”

Dr. PhD. Rachele De Felice
University College London

Chair: Prof. Annalisa Zanola
University of Brescia

February 19th, 2018 h. 10
Aula Lingue – S. Chiara building

Rachele De Felice (https://www.ucl.ac.uk/english-usage/staff/rachele/) has a PhD in computational linguistics and she is Postdoctoral Research Fellow at ETS (Princeton, New Jersey), working on automated identification of speech acts. The seminar (for the duration of 90 minutes) is aimed at: underpinning the scope of Corpus Linguistics and how we can use it to study the English Language applied to the business domain; focusing on key issues in Corpus Linguistics methodology; how to use corpora to analyse issues in syntax and semantics; how to navigate large and small corpora, particularly ICE (International Corpus of English) and DCPSE (Diachronic Corpus of Present-Day Spoken English).